Bare-Bones Budget Not So Bare, Says Analyst

By VINCENT THOMAS

Assemblyman, 68th District

Our own budget specialist, the Legislative Analyst, has just released his own compendious report on the administration's budget of $4.02 billion for 1965-66. As always, the findings, recommendations, and suggestions which he and his staff have developed will guide the committees of both houses which review the budget bill, as well as the rest of us in deciding how to vote when the measure reaches the floor.

The many recommendations in proposed expenditures total some $41.5 million. Of this total, $35 million in cuts are in general fund items, $1 million in special funds, and $5.5 million in capital outlay bond funds. In addition, the report calls our attention to some $27.5 million in possible further cuts which we could consider on the basis of legislative policy.

The report emphasizes the fact that the proposed "bare bones" budget submitted by the Governor cannot be balanced unless taxes are raised. Using the estimates given in the budget documents, the total increase in state levies on the taxpayer between 1964-65 and 1965-66 is placed at $188 million, or 8.4 per cent. Raises in tobacco taxes would account for more than half this increase.

OUR ATTENTION is directed to the hard fact that while the total operations budget for next year is proposed at $3.6 billion, up only 4.6 per cent over the current year, this total is up a sharp 21.5 per cent over 1963-64 — a jump of more than a fifth in two years.

Some of the more significant reductions proposed are certain to arouse vigorous opposition from the state agencies, institutions, and groups affected. But in every instance the Analyst's report thoroughly documents the reasons for the recommended cuts, so they cannot be completely ignored.

In the field of higher education, cuts amounting to $204,000 are proposed for the University of California. Eliminations in the budget request for the State Colleges total $1,248,000.

PROPOSED reductions in the amount requested for mental hygiene come to $2.1 million, most of it in hospitals for the mentally ill. Cuts recommended in the public health budget total almost $2.5 million.

One sizeable reduction proposed is interesting because it highlights some of the fiscal problems created by court decisions relating to the liability of government agencies for damages. This recommended cut of $6.3 million in the appropriation for payment of "tort claims" from the general fund, is tied into the claims against the state for damages arising from the Feather River flood of 1953. The report points out that inclusion of this amount is due entirely to a lower court decision, not appealed by the state, and suggests that the Legislature review the problem very carefully.

As usual, there are a number of recommendations to completely eliminate existing programs. One proposed for the ax is the Economic Development Agency. A second is the Office of Atomic Energy. A third is the $800,000 program of state assistance to local public libraries.

Motorists Warned of Marine Convoys to Long Beach Area

Crowded driving conditions leave Camp Pendleton at 6:30 a.m. each day and will continue until about 6:30 p.m. Routes to Long Beach, according to the Provost Marshal's office, will be from all exits of Camp Pendleton north on U.S. 101 to the Santa Ana Freeway, to the Long Beach Freeway, then to the Naval Station entrances on Terminal Island. Motorists may pass the sea off Southern California, military vehicle, but extreme caution is urged.
